heavy a tax on the supposition of the sincerity of righteous purposes, honesty and fair-mindedness of the President of the American Federation of Labor.

Whether or not the McNamaras and McManigal are ever convicted for the crime and crimes with which they are charged, the indisputable fact remains that for two and a half years past a chain of dynamite outrages have been perpetrated from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast and back again, at an enormous cost; these explosions—a total of horrors involving a loss of millions of dollars and scores of lives—have occurred only on structural steel jobs where non-union workmen were employed. Unquestionably a systemized campaign and vast sums of money have been back of these outrages.

Under the circumstances leading up to the arrest of the two McNamaras they are confronted by the gravest evidence of having participated in these dynamite outrages and particularly in the destruction of the plant of the Los Angeles Times, and the murder of twenty-one of its employees. McManigal has confessed, stating that he was the executant of most of the explosions, though not concerned in the wrecking of the Times. And the evidence against the McNamaras and that they are responsible for the terrible destruction of life and property resulting from the dynamiting of non-union jobs the past two and a half years with the knowledge and consent of some organization capable of advancing them a very large amount of money, is too strong and conclusive to be ignored, despite the fact that their arrest was occasioned and the evidence against them collected by a private detective agency at whose head is a man who has religiously and consistently played to the grandstand throughout most of his years of crime investigations.

There is little doubt but that this detective and his men have been in the employ of organizations bent on destroying labor. But, despite this, it does not justify the uproar of union men and labor leaders and their absurd and frenzied declarations of a gigantic plot to destroy organized labor and break the backbone of unionism.

All San Francisco is awaiting the return of C. C. Moore, newly elected Director General of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, as upon his arrival either Golden Gate Park or Harbor View will be selected as the site of the Exposition for 1915.

Choice has narrowed down to these two localities and the San Francisco public is anxious for the decision on one or the other.

The largest musical comedy entertainment in the world—Ziegfeld's "Follies of 1910," is scheduled for presentation at the Salt Lake Theatre on May 15th, 16th, and 17th. The cast to be seen here is the identical one which appeared in the organization during its record breaking run at the Colonial Theatre, Chicago, during last September and October. Bickel and Watson, Bert Williams, Billie Reeves, Bobby North, Harry Pilcer, W. Wania, Imperial Russian dancer, William C. Schrode, Quigg and Nickerson, Fanny Brice, Shirley Kellogg, Arline Boley, Evelyn Carlton, and Margaret Morris are among the most important players. In addition to these there are seventy-five Anna Held girls, said to be the most beautiful on the stage.
